Banjoski Music To Compose Score for “Higher Ground”

Banjoski Music, a leading music production company based in New Orleans with offices in San Diego, has been selected to produce the musical score for the movie, “Higher Ground.” The movie is being produced by Bait & Tackle Productions and CAVU, a US public charity dedicated to education on the use of our natural resources. Chosen for their musical versatility in various media including film, TV, and special events, Banjoski Music focuses on customizing the musical experience to the specific event or production project.

“Higher Ground” explores the changing reality of our Gulf Coast beaches and coastline, educating viewers on the implications of coastal erosion and how it affects us all. Louisiana continues to lose 25 square miles of land a year, or roughly one acre every 33 minutes. The film offers ways we might adapt if we are all to continue to enjoy this most valuable natural resource.

CAVU stands for “ceiling and visibility unlimited,” the meteorological dream of every pilot. The mission of the organization is to improve communities by engaging and educating people towards better management of our natural resources. They use “the power of flight and the medium of film” to work with individuals, communities, and organizations.
